PLAYING FOR VOTES

Compromise is Effected in Louisiana
Case

National Committee Still Dominated by Ruling Taft Forces.

Chicago, June 9.—Armed with a declaration of Secretary of War Taft that there must be no compromise in any contests, the Taft men today went into the meeting of the Republican national committee to fight for everything they can get. This stand of Taft is regarded as making certain of the fulfillment of threats made by the "allies" that the convention will witness the warmest fight in the history of Republican conventions.

When the committee met today to resume the consideration of the Louisiana contests, there was still some talk of a compromise in that particular case in spite of Secretary Taft's declaration. Certain members of the committee favor dividing the vote and seating one-half of each delegation.

Chicago, June 9.—Serious attention is at last being given the colored man and brother by the dominant Taft forces in the national organization. This is not because of what has been done by the "allies," but rather in spite of them. The same conditions reassert themselves at every Republican convention, and those of today are no different from those of four, eight or twelve years ago. It is only in these quadrennial periods that the Southern Republican becomes visible to the naked eye of the politician. The "allies" have been twanging this particular string until it has become a shredbare and threatens to snap.

Last night the Taft managers took under consideration for the first time the question of making a compromise in a pending contest in which there is a chance for a favorable decision for the outsider. This is the Louisiana case. The Taft delegation is headed by former Governor H. C. Warmouth, National Committeeman Pearl Wright, Henry McCall and A. B. Kennedy. The contestants are headed by Walter Cohen, Emile Kuntz, Joseph Fabaccher and B. V. Haranco, and their convention held at New Orleans, endorsed Roosevelt, Fairbanks and Foraker.

Yesterday the National committee consolidated all of the contests from the state and heard part of the evidence. Walter Cohen made the argument for the contestants, and is said to have impressed the committee strongly with the rightfulness of their claims.

Four years ago Cohen was seated by the National committee, and the committee on credentials of the convention compromised by seating both delegations. Practically the same question was before the body last night. Both Arthur I. Vorys, of Ohio, and Frank H. Hitchcock of Washington, have been consulted about the matter, and former Governor Myron T. Herrick, of Ohio, is known to be interested in the negotiations.

It is a question of policy rather than of the merits of the contest that is under consideration, the point of it being a desire to show the colored Republicans of the United States that there is no racial feeling in the actions of the committee, and to show that a square deal is being given to the representatives of that influential portion of the rank and file of the party.

The waning spirits of the "allies" received an injection of ginger today through the arrival on the scene of Speaker Cannon, the first presidential candidate to put in an appearance. "Uncle Joe" established himself at the Union League club. On behalf of the speaker, it is stated that he has no intention of getting out of the race. The national committee finally announced that the delegation from Louisiana had been split between the Taft men and the "allies." Each side gets nine votes. This decision was the result of an agreement between the "Lilly Whites" (Taft men) and the "Black and Tans." It means a great victory for the Taft men, inasmuch as it keeps the "Lilly Whites" in control of the state.

United States Senator Dick of Ohio, arrived today to take a hand in Foraker's fight for a nomination. Dick insists that Foraker's fight is serious, and that he will be a factor when the convention meets.

"The action of the national committee in southern contests is revolutionary," said Dick. "The Republican party is not accustomed to such tactics and I have no doubt the convention committee on credentials will reverse the national committee's decisions."

INVESTIGATION

Has Been Begun at Massillon by the Board of Charities of the State of Ohio.

Massillon, O., June 9.—Members McFadden, Platt and Meade and Secretary Shirer of the State Board of Charities, today began the investigation of the charges made against the Massillon State Insane Asylum. The investigation is the result of a charge that John Adams, a Civil war veteran, was beaten to death by hospital attendants. Secretary Shirer says that after the investigation of the Adams death, the board will take up the general conduct of the asylum, but will not go back more than a year.

Hongkong, June 9.—The British passenger steamer, Powat, struck upon a submerged rock off Lantau island last night, and today is a total wreck. The vessel carried 170 passengers. Steamships saved all the Europeans, among them the ship's officers. About 80 natives are believed to have been drowned.

COMBINE

Of Brotherhood of Railway Organizations Will be Largest in the Country.

Toledo, O., June 9.—One of the biggest railroad brotherhoods in the country will be the outcome of the present convention of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, if plans now afoot carry. It is the intention of the leaders to amalgamate the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, Brotherhood of Interior Freight Handlers and the Railway Clerks and Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees. It is estimated that the combined membership of the three organizations will be 125,000, and they will stand together for offensive and defensive action.

TARIFF REVISION PLANK CHANGED TO SUIT STAND PATTERS

Washington, June 9.—Absolute surrender of the part of the tariff plank most odious to the stand-patters appears to be about the only concession the Taft men are willing to make to their opponents. Attorney General Wade Ellis of Ohio announces that the tariff plank like that they asked the Ohio Republican convention to adopt, which amounts to a declaration that the tariff as framed by Dingley and McKinley fostered trusts and monopolies, and will not be in the draft to be submitted to the committee on resolutions. The Taft people now are willing to have the platform promise revision of the tariff immediately after inauguration, without saying that revision is deemed necessary to prevent "further fostering of monopolies."

Holding a National Meeting of Great Importance

Cincinnati Plan Explained by Judge John A. Caldwell

Prohibition in Kentucky Arouses Strong Counter Movement Against Fanaticism.

Milwaukee, Wis., June 9.—The most important meeting ever held by the United States Brewers' Association opened in the Public Service Building this morning. How vividly its importance is recognized by the brewers themselves is shown by the attendance.

All day Monday members and associate members came into Milwaukee in a continuous flow, which started with the arrival of the New York City delegation and continued in an almost unbroken stream. By night there were 1,000 brewers, many of them accompanied by their wives and families, in the city.

During the convention interesting statements were made by Judge John A. Caldwell of the Cincinnati juvenile court, and O. J. Renner, a probation officer of that city, both of whom told of the system in their city, in which the brewers are greatly interested.

If a family is found to be suffering as a result of drunkenness on the part of the husband and father, the brewers take the matter up at once, and notify saloons that no more money is to be taken from the man who has neglected his family. The saloons either must cease selling to such men or they must themselves get out of the saloon business, and the influence of the brewers compels obedience to the orders or a retirement from business.

Frank Fehr, a leading brewer of Louisville, who is attending the convention, talked freely on conditions in his state. "The prohibition movement in Kentucky has aroused a strong counter movement against fanaticism," said Mr. Fehr. "The business man and the leaders of both political parties have awakened to the fact that, if left to make its course without opposition, the prohibition movement will bring ruin to the commercial and industrial interests in the state and involve all property and financial interests in the crash."

"This is a more serious matter to the general business public in Kentucky than in any other state, as the main business is the production of fine whiskeys, which are sold all over the world, and the making of beer, which has of late years assumed a position of almost equal importance."

"In April there was organized in Louisville an association of leading business men in all lines with the avowed object of stopping the prohibition movement, and of substituting for this destructive policy that of strict law enforcement. The membership has been rapidly growing, until now it claims to have several thousand and enrolled."

President Julius Liebmman of New York in the course of an interview said:

"The most important question before the convention of the United States Brewers' Association is not prohibition, but the local option laws. These laws will make it necessary for brewers, in self-protection, to get into politics."

Chicago, June 9.—R. A. Gormely, aged 35 years, member of a wealthy Detroit family, and known as "The Million Dollar Kid," committed suicide yesterday afternoon at the Auditorium Annex by shooting himself in the head with a revolver. He died instantly.

The only cause known for the act, according to his friends, is that Gormely suddenly became crazed by the heat.

Northbound Car Crashes Into Trailer —Trainmen Injured Perhaps Fatally.

Chicago, June 9.—A dozen persons were injured, five seriously, today when a Kedzie avenue street car crashed into and telescoped another car on the same line. The accident resulted from the derailing of a southbound car which jumped the track and swung over on another track. A northbound car crashed into the trailer and telescoped it. Adele Gilson, Lawrence Specht and Mary Crowe, passengers, may die. Motorman McKernon and the conductor of the trailer are seriously injured.

W. L. WALTHER.

New York, June 9.—W. L. Walther, of Funch, Edye & Co., is an influential factor in the shipping trade, and is a member of the steamship committee of the produce exchange, of which he has been a member for about fifteen years. His rigid application to business affairs has caused him to be named "the diligent one" by his friends on the floor. He rarely, if ever, allows himself a vacation of any length, seldom misses an hour from the floor when things are at all active, and declares as his motto, "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy, but it puts money in his pocket."

FOURTEEN KILLED IN A WRECK

Motorman Claims He Had Never Run a Car Over the Creve
Coeur Line Before Sunday.

St. Louis, Mo., June 9.—A "rat" in the hair of Miss Emma Lanahan, of Louisville, Ky., a passenger on the wrecked Creve Coeur car, saved her life, she thinks.

"Before we knew anything of the accident, the people in the car were thrown every way," said Miss Lanahan last evening. "I was with my cousin, George L. Lanahan, and he had just remarked: 'If anything should happen to this car, it will be worse than any railroad wreck.' It seemed 10 minutes from the time of the first lurch until the car settled."

"The car was running at 40 to 50 miles an hour. No attention was paid to curves, culverts, crossings or any thing else. It was due to a 'rat' in my hair that I did not suffer a fracture of the skull. While in the tumble I felt a terrific jolt on the head, but the 'rat' apparently eased the force of the blow."

Francis McEndre, motorman in charge of the car, stated that prior to the telegraph strike he was an operator at Xenia, Ohio.

"I came to St. Louis from Xenia, Ohio, last August," said McEndre, who is held without bond, "and got a job as motorman on the Page line. I never ran a Creve Coeur car until Sunday, when I was sent there because of the extra traffic."

"I didn't see the curve or the warning signs, because my headlight was out of commission."

General Manager McCulloch, of the United Railway, gave a statement declaring that disobedience of orders and regulations of the company by the motorman caused the wreck of the car.

The passenger killed has been positively identified as John Eisman, of Kirkwood, Mo.

FATHER IS DEPOT MASTER.

Louisville, Ky., June 9.—Miss Emma Lanahan, whose life was saved in St. Louis by a 'rat' in her hair, is the daughter of Captain Tom Lanahan, a station master here. She lives at 1325 Edenside avenue.

ANNAPOLIS WRECK PROBED.

Annapolis, Md., June 9.—Coroner Davis has begun investigation into the causes of the wreck on the Washington, Baltimore and Annapolis railway last Friday night, which resulted in the death of nine persons. Testimony was adduced tending to show that Motorman Wadsworth in charge of the north bound car, was apparently lax on obedience to orders.

King Edward of England and Emperor Nicholas and their suite of royal dignitaries are carrying on their interchange of courtesies. The Czar, Czarina, their children and attendants, arrived by train this morning from St. Petersburg. They were at once conveyed to the yacht Standart. Two hours later the king and queen arrived aboard the Victoria and Albert. The Czar boarded the English yacht at once.

DR. G. A. DORSEY, AMERICAN ANTHROPOLOGIST, IN THE LAND OF SPICES.

Visits Noted Island in the Indian Ocean to Make Study of Races, Especially Veddahs.

Granville, O., June 9.—The Ceylon Observer of April 30, contains the following regarding Dr. G. A. Dorsey, son of Squire E. J. Dorsey, of this place, who is Curator of Anthropology in the Field Museum of Natural History, Chicago, and who is visiting the most unfrequented parts of the earth in his investigations:

"Dr. G. A. Dorsey who (in the opinion of Dr. Alfred Haddon, F. R. S., of Cambridge) is the ablest native born American anthropologist, arrived here yesterday from India, where he has had a very interesting couple of months of investigation both in the North and South from Darjeeling to Ootacamund. Dr. Dorsey will be at least over a month in Ceylon. He is exceedingly anxious to meet Dr. Seligmann before he quits the Veddah country and accordingly he leaves by this afternoon train for Kandy to consult with Mr. Parsons as to whether it is likely he can intercept Dr. and Mrs. Seligmann by going on via Matale and Dambulla to Polonnaruwa. It was stated yesterday by our Anuradhapura correspondent that Dr. Seligmann was in that neighborhood, and Dr. Dorsey naturally attaches much importance to seeing a little of the Veddahs and their country under Dr. Seligmann's guidance. We trust he may be successful. Dr. Dorsey is Curator of Anthropology in the Field Museum of Natural History, Chicago, and has succeeded (as we learn from England) in making one of the best Ethnological Museums existing, and it is expected that before he is done he may even surpass the great 'Volkerkunde Museum' in Berlin. We trust Dr. Dorsey will have an interesting and profitable tour in Ceylon, and we bespeak all due attention and aid for this enterprising American scientific visitor."

ALMOST A MIRACLE

His Body Distorted and Racked With Rheumatism for Two Years This Young Man Now Walks and Works.

For a generation Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have been curing rheumatism and other diseases caused by poor blood and during that time certain cures have been published that were so marvelous in their nature that they have been termed modern miracles. Such a cure was that of Charles Calhoun, Jr., now living at Capron, N. Y., and employed in a mill there. The facts in the case are widely known in the neighborhood in which Mr. Calhoun lives and the cure is regarded locally as nothing short of miraculous.

When the Calhoun family was living at Winfield, N. Y., some years ago the young man was taken sick. "Our family doctor pronounced it inflammatory rheumatism," says Mr. Calhoun, "and he attended me for about a year. For nine months I was confined to the bed and in such agony that I could not bear the weight of the sheets nor to have anyone touch me. I could not move myself at all.

"The rheumatism was complicated with a nervous trouble resembling St. Vitus' dance, my limbs and head jerked and I suffered all the agonies possible. Blisters were applied to my knees until they left scars but I could not feel them. My fingers began to draw out of shape and get stiff.

"In spite of the doctor's treatment and all the medicine I took I kept getting worse. My feet swelled so that I could not get a stocking on and I could not straighten up at all. Finally the doctor told my father he could do nothing more for me.

"At this time Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were recommended to me and I found relief in the first box. After taking three boxes I could walk. I continued to take them steadily until I was cured. That was in 1895. I have worked every day for years now and am entirely well and have no trace of my old trouble whatever."

Our free pamphlet, "Diseases of the Blood," gives further information about the treatment of rheumatism.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 60 cents per box; six boxes for $2.60, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

Death Was on His Heels.

Jesse P. Morris, of Skippers, Va., had a close call in the spring of 1908. He says: "An attack of pneumonia left me so weak and with such a fearful cough that my friends declared consumption had me, and death was on my heels. Then I was persuaded to try Dr. King's New Discovery. It helped me immediately, and after taking two and a half bottles I was a well man again. I found out that New Discovery is the best remedy for coughs and lung disease in all the world." Sold under guarantee at F. D. Hall's drug store. 50c. and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

STONED

An Officer at Idlewild Park and is Given Thirty Days in Jail by Mayor Atherton.

At is not velvet for the officers that are on duty at the parks around Newark, as witness the case against Harry Squires by Officer Charles Shockey. A gang of young fellows who have been creating more or less trouble at Idlewild park, climbed on a car the other night and one of them hurled a stone at the officer.

It struck him fair, and as he knew the crowd of near voters, he has been watching for them for several days. Harry Mitchell was taken in on suspicion and he told the officer and the mayor that Squires had confessed to him the next day that he, Squires, threw the rock.

Squires was arrested by the officers last night at 8:10 and this morning he was given 30 days in the county jail. The sentence was heavy, but it was made so to impress other youngsters that stoning policemen is a bad thing.

Coat of Telephone Lineman and Gets Thirty Days in the County Jail for the Offense.

When a telephone lineman leaves his coat on the ground while he is at work on a telephone pole, he can reasonably expect all sorts of things to happen it, and one lineman has found that out.

He left his coat on the ground while he worked away with the numerous wires, and looked down just in time to see George Stotsberg hiking off with it. He knew George, so it wasn't long before Officer Donley had the offender.

Stotsberg was slated petit larceny and this morning drew 30 days in jail for the theft.

Raided for Ten Cents Worth of Coal and Foreigner Was Fined $9 in Police Court.

Besides the Squire case there were several others in police court this morning.

Officer I. H. Andrews, detective for the B. & O. in this city, caught a foreigner, Constantine Stanciu, stealing some coal from the railroad. He was given $5 and costs, which he paid. The coal was valued at about 10 cents. The extra $5.89 will probably serve as a warning for him.

Charles Hagerly was drunk and disorderly. Then when Officer Moore went to arrest him he fought the officer. He drew 10 days in jail for his share of the trouble.

John Carnan, a train rider, arrested by Detective Bennett was given 10 days in jail.

Col. O. B. Ellis, of Syracuse, a stock raiser and one of the prominent farmers of that vicinity, has been the guest of friends in this city for the past several days. Col. Ellis, who here was a guest at the Ward, and Sherwood hotels, and was also entertained at the Ellis' club, being an enthusiastic member of the railroad brethren. He considers Newark one of the best cities in the state and will probably spend a couple of weeks camping at the ideal summer resort, Buckeye Lake. The colonel incidentally remarked that Newark's suspended pitcher, "Kid" Koehl, has been playing ball all over the northern and eastern part of the state, is also the regular pitcher for the Tiffin Cubs, and has not lost a game this season. His friends in his home town were greatly provoked at him for jumping Newark, as he would undoubtedly have made good, and might have developed into a splendid twirler.

INVESTIGATION

OF SATURDAY'S INTERURBAN WRECK WILL OCCUR ON WEDNESDAY.

Passengers Injured in the Smash-up Are Doing Nicely—Trainmen Running as Usual.

The official investigation of the cause of the wreck near Idlewild park Saturday on the Ohio Electric Railway company's interurban line, in which many persons were painfully injured, will begin Wednesday before General Superintendent W. A. Gibbs, Superintendent of Transportation F. J. Moore, the company's general master mechanic and the crew of the wrecked train.

The company's physician, Dr. J. G. Shiner, has examined the injured and reported upon them. Miss Winnie Williams of Athens, O., is reported much improved, although she is still believed to be the worst injured of any of the passengers. Her physicians, however, state that they do not think the injuries will result in any permanent disfigurement.

Motorman Vogt and Conductor Bonnet are still on duty in the service of the company, making their usual runs today.

Both men were keenly shocked by the accident but the view of the officials on the situation relieves them from blame.

HIGH HONOR FOR INVENTOR DELANY

Philadelphia, June 9.—Formal notice has been given by the secretary of the Franklin Institute that its committee on Science and the Arts has recommended the award of the Elliott Cresson gold medal to Patrick B. Delaney of South Orange, N. J., for his system of automatic telegraphy. The Delaney system is controlled by the Teletype company, which is now building up a national telegraph system to compete with the Western Union and the Postal Telegraph. The Delaney automatic apparatus sends and receives at the rate of a thousand words a minute. The economies it makes possible in operation and construction are so great that the new company has already announced that it will charge only one cent a word for telegrams between any two points on its lines.

Among inventors the Elliott Cresson medal is one of the most highly valued honors. It is bestowed upon a deed of true daring from 1848, which restricts awards to "some discovery in the art and sciences, or for the invention or improvement of some useful machine." This latest honor earned by Mr. Delany follows the highest award for his rapid automatic system from the New York Electrical Society, Cornell university, the Pan-American exhibition, and the St. Louis World's Fair.

DAMAGES

ASKED BY EMMA DIXON FROM CHARLES ESMITH IN THE SUM OF $5,000.Arrested on a Peace Warrant—News
From Licking County's Temple of Justice.

Emma Dixon Tuesday filed a petition in the Common Pleas court by her attorney, B. G. Smythe, to recover damages in the sum of $5,000 from Charles Emswiler of Utica, alleging that he had maliciously assaulted, beaten and wounded her in her own premises in Utica, from the effects of which she had been confined to her bed for ten days. Several days ago the defendant was arrested and taken before Mayor Hall of Utica, charged with having committed an assault and battery on the plaintiff with intent to kill, and he was bound over to the grand jury in the sum of $500.

Common Pleas Court.

In the case of Wm. N. Fulton vs. Robert C. Fulton, et al, an action in partition, sale was reported made, and a deed was ordered made by the Sheriff, and order of distribution, Fitzgibbon, Jones & Jones.

The trial of the case of Ohio vs. Frank Bader, Robert White and Clarence Thompson, indicted for keeping a gambling room, was commenced to the court and jury. In the selection of a jury, the regular panel was exhausted and the names of 20 veniremen were ordered drawn from the jury wheel. In order to give the sheriff an opportunity to summon these veniremen and to enable them to appear in court, a recess was taken to Wednesday at 9 a. m. Fitzgibbon, Smythe & Smythe.

Ohio vs. Cornelius Sullivan, indicted for keeping a gambling room, a verdict of guilty was returned. The defendant, by counsel, has filed a motion for a new trial in which defendant's counsel claims that the court erred in refusing to grant the defendant's application for a continuance; in receiving any testimony at all under the indictment; that the court erred in admitting incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial testimony; and in excluding proper testimony; in refusing to charge the jury as requested, and error in the charge. Fitzgibbon, Smythe & Smythe.

In the case of Clarence C. Sharp et al vs. the City of Newark, the court held that the petition states a cause of action against the city, and overruled the demurrer. The suit is brought to recover damages for injuries received by the plaintiff on account of a defective sidewalk on Woods street. It is claimed that the city, by the exercise of reasonable care, should have known of its unsafe condition. Flory & Flory, Belton.

In the case of Anna A. Westbrook, executrix vs. A. Q. Miner, the court granted leave to amend the answer. Kibler & Montgomery; King, Hilliard.

In the case of Emily Hampshire vs. Oliver Hampshire et al (three cases) actions brought in the nature of creditors' bills, seeking to have appropriated certain money to the payment of the claim, or judgment, procured in the Probate court, a decree was entered in favor of the defendant in each case. Smythe & Smythe; James, State of Ohio vs. Thos. Egan, indicted for keeping a gambling room; plea of guilty entered by defendant.

Swears Out Warrant for Officer. George Walker appeared before Justice Holton and caused a warrant to be issued for the arrest of Charles Shockey, night police officer at Idlewild park. Walker charges the officer with beating, wounding and otherwise ill treating him. The hearing has been set for Friday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

Indictments Returned.

Sherry Redman arrested on indictments returned by the recent grand jury, the following persons: Louis Bader, Harry Clark, Theodore McPherson, Robert White, Wellington McPherson and Oliver Holtsberry. They are said to be connected with three saloons along the Buckeye Lake and each gave bond in the sum of $500. They were indicted for unlawfully conducting a place where intoxicating liquors were sold. They are also charged with keeping open on Sunday a place for the sale of intoxicating liquors.

Divorce Petition Filed.

Court Notice.

All prisoners that have not been arraigned before the Common Pleas court, and have been indicted will report before the Common Pleas court Thursday at 9 a. m., to plead. By order of the Court.

Supreme Court Decision.

The case of the State of Ohio vs. B. J. Mattingly was an application by the village of Johnstown for leave to file a petition in error in the Supreme court to reverse the judgment of the Licking County Circuit court which gave Mattingly a new trial and reversed the judgment of Mayor Shradder of Johnstown by whom Mattingly was convicted of a violation of the local option law. Last Thursday the matter was argued before the Supreme court by Edward Kibler on behalf of the attorney general, who made the application, and Phil B. Smythe for Mattingly. The Supreme court Tuesday morning announced its decision, granting leave to file a petition in error. The question involved is whether a person convicted before a mayor has a right to take his case directly to the Circuit court without going through the Common Pleas court, which was the method pursued in this case, which the state alleges to be error.

DENISON PROUD OF HER BOYS AND GIRLS OF 1908

Annual Commencement Concert of the Denison-Shepardson Glee Clubs Was a Pronounced Success

COMMENCEMENT OF PREPARATORIES

Senior Girls of Shepardson College Decorate the Grave of Man Whose Name the Institution Bears With Smilax and Roses.

Granville, June 9.—The commencement story is one of the tales which never grows trite—the scene one whose infinite variety never stales. From the obscure little village chapel, where the white gown maiden blushing fumbles her be-ribboned diploma to the black robed procession, moving in stately show under gray-ivied walls whose brooding alma mater may be blessing the third and fourth generation—surely it is for this alone that June brings its "perfect" days.

Old Denison is again in gala array to honor her children who for a little while slip away to the hospitable shelter of her welcoming arms—and to speed those younger children who are slipping from that kindly shelter, not knowing how soon and how gladly they will be wanting to come back. Of the goodly class of young men and women whom 1908 sends out, trained for service, the old school is proud, as well she may be; she knows that teachers or preachers or missionaries, wide-hearted mothers in the home, all will some day be returning with rich gifts of love to the alma mater who has cherished them. So all honor to the sons and daughters to whom she is lending her name, trusting their future to keep it sacred.

PREPARATORY SCHOOLS

Granville, June 9.—Never in the history of Doane Academy and Shepardson college, Denison's admirable preparatory schools, has a more pleasant set of circumstances combined to afford a notable and enjoyable occasion at the annual commencement time than those surrounding the annual commencement of these two institutions, which was held in the Baptist church Tuesday morning.

The day was a beautiful one for a commencement. From early morning the sun shone in its brightest glory as a token of the brightness that commencement day should signify, and no shadow or shade extended its unwelcome ray across the horizon not only of the day, but across the path of the young people, who are about to enter upon the duties of higher education.

Long before the hour the friends of the graduates began to gather in the commodious church, until at the time for the exercises there was a large number of people in attendance. Dr. H. R. Hundley and his able corps of instructors deserve great commendation for the interest they have infused into the life of the school. All the essays and productions of the graduates were of a high order of merit, and each was accorded hearty applause.

The address by Rev. W. B. Wallace was a literary gem and brimmed over with wholesome advice and encouragement. The program was as follows:

- Essay.....The Forest Primeval Marguerite May McNutt.
- Oration.....Chinese Immigration Laws Linden Rine Wilson.

- Address.....Rev. W. B. Wallace, D.D.
- Song.....The Pilgrim's Song Mr. J. Harold Thomas.
- Delivery of Diplomas.

- Benediction.

The names of the graduates and their places of residence are as follows:

DECORATE DR.

SHEPARDSON'S GRAVE
Granville, O., June 9.—One of the prettiest and most impressive ceremonies of commencement week took place yesterday afternoon at 1:30 when the Senior girls of Shepardson college decorated the grave of Dr. Daniel Shepardson, whose name the college bears. The girls of '08 are to be commended for the thought which prompted this tribute to the memory of the man whose life laid the foundation which has made possible the Shepardson college of today. Dr. Shepardson was one of the pioneers in the education of the women of the

WOMAN'S BACKACHE

The back is the mainspring of woman's organism. It quickly calls attention to trouble by aching. It tells, with other symptoms, such as nervousness, headache, pains in the loins, weight in the lower part of the body, that a woman's feminine organism needs immediate attention.

In such cases the one sure remedy which speedily removes the cause, and restores the feminine organism to a healthy, normal condition is LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND. Mrs. Will Young, of 6 Columbia Ave., Rockland, Me., says: "I was troubled for a long time with dreadful backaches and a pain in my side, and was miserable in every way. I doctored until I was discouraged and thought I would never get well. I read what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for others and decided to try it; after taking three bottles I can truly say that I never felt so well in my life."

Mrs. Augustus Lyon, of East Earl, Pa., writes to Mrs. Pinkham: "I had very severe backaches, and pressing-down pains. I could not sleep, and had no appetite. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured me and made me feel like a new woman."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.
For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration.

middle-west, and one of the most public spirited men Granville has ever had. This is one of the most fitting memorials that could be rendered his memory.

Twenty Senior girls wearing their caps and gowns, started for Stone hall at 1:30. The procession was led by Miss Irene Conley and Miss Anne Sorensen, each carrying a great armful of red and white roses. The girls behind them carried garlands of smilax, and as they marched down Broadway the company was most dignified and attractive.

When they reached Maple Grove cemetery Dr. Shepardson's grave was wreathed in smilax and covered with fragrant roses. Then Miss Conley, the president of the Senior girls, spoke briefly of the aim of the class in inaugurating this custom, and of what Dr. Shepardson meant to the college and to Granville.

Nothing that the students have done recently more merits the approval of the alumnae and friends of the college than this appropriate tribute to the memory of the man who more than any one else, made Shepardson college what it is today.

GLEE CLUB CONCERT.

Granville, June 9.—On Monday evening in Recital Hall, the annual Commencement Concert was given by the Denison-Shepardson Glee clubs, assisted by Miss Emily Farrar, soprano; Mrs. Elizabeth T. Wilson, contralto; Mr. Clarence V. Brown, tenor, and Mr. Ellis P. Legler, basso; Miss Fannie Farrar, accompanist; Miss Dorothy Kibler, accompanist, and Mr. R. L. Hidden, director of orchestra.

The chorus was composed of sixty members, and the work of Mrs. Wilson could easily be recognized.

Miss Farrar once more pleased a large and appreciative audience with her remarkable voice, full of keenness of pitch and quality of tone.

Mrs. Wilson's great ability that has won much praise in the past, must still be repeated, the audience showing its appreciation of her appearance by hearty applause.

Mr. Clarence Brown, although new to Granville, easily sang his way into the hearts of the entire audience.

Mr. Ellis P. Legler proved to be as much of a favorite as ever, and his deep bass voice pleased all. Mr. Legler is possessed of a remarkable voice, and his friends consider it a rare treat when they are afforded an opportunity of hearing him.

Both accompanists were exceedingly fine and the work of the orchestra was most commendable.

Following is the excellent program that was carried out:

- PART I.

Success in Money Matters—By the Ad. Writer of the Buckeye State Building and Loan Company, Rankin Building, 22 West Gay Street, Columbus, Ohio.

Fourth Way. By intense study of the requirements of the work or business which he has at hand. Oftentimes men fail in business because they do not reflect, ponder, revolve, study, investigate, think over, analyze, dissect and mentally build and rebuild the business in which they are engaged. Intense study and work will bring success and financial profits, which in turn should be put to work earning interest at 5 per cent from The Buckeye, whose assets are over $2,400,000.

MITCHELL MAY BE PUT ON TICKET WITH BRYAN

MOVEMENT BOOMING LABOR LEADER FOR THE VICE PRESIDENCY.

Other Candidates Considered Include Congressman Harrison, N. Y., and Gov. Johnson, of Minn.

Washington, June 9.—Intimate political friends of William J. Bryan, who have discussed with him recently the question of a running mate on the Democratic ticket, are convinced that unless one of the Republican candidates for vice president is taken from New York, it will be either John Mitchell or Governor John A. Johnson, of Minnesota.

Mr. Bryan has told his friends that he regards the selection of the candidate for vice president as a question to be approached with great care. The names of at least eight men have been under consideration, and as far as this list is now written those of Mitchell and Johnson stand at the head.

Francis Burton Harrison, of New York, now a representative in Congress, is a man toward whom Mr. Bryan, in common with other leaders of the party, turn with satisfaction when the vice presidency is mentioned. There has been serious discussion of a situation which might result from the action of the Chicago convention which would place Representative Harrison very close to the nomination upon the Democratic ticket.

The nomination of a New York Republican for second place with Mr. Taft would force the Democrats to recognize the vantage ground of New York state and quite likely result in the selection of Mr. Harrison as Mr. Bryan's running mate. While Mr. Harrison will not be 35 years old until December many Democrats look on him as a strong candidate outside of the question of strategic and geographical location. Mr. Bryan himself believes that the selection of Mr. Harrison would also appeal to the South, in which locality his family is an old and well known one.

Speaking of the availability of John Mitchell recently Mr. Bryan said: "I regard Mr. Mitchell's qualifications as worthy of very serious consideration." The great strength which the addition of the name of this labor leader would bring to the Bryan ticket is not underestimated, and a serious movement in his favor might result in bringing about his selection. Such a campaign seems to have been inaugurated in Texas, where a resolution endorsing Mitchell will be presented to the state committee.

Should Governor Johnson decide that he was willing to surrender his chances of nomination for the presidency for the privilege of having his name appear on the Democratic ballots below that of Mr. Bryan, he would probably get it there. The personality and drawing power of Governor Johnson as a candidate have been brought home to the party during the last few months with striking effect.

The Molders lost the fourth game of the series Monday in a game that was replete with errors and that should have been stowed safely away in the strong-box of the Newarkites. A couple of bad errors of the local infield, "Mr. Fired Out of the League and Put Back in Again Kreamer," alleged umpire from Columbus, whom President Quinn handed the blue envelope after witnessing his punk work at Lancaster, with two awful smelling decisions, helped the good work along, and Wilson's single in the 9th which turned into a homer by bounding over the right field fence, clinched the game for the deposited leaders.

It was one of those tough "ack" games that was hard to lose, but what the use, Marion copied it and they were fairly entitled to it, and we broke even on the series, so that's not so bad. Charley O'Day's bunch are a great deal better behaved than they were when here last. This applies to all except "Windy" Lotshaw. It's impossible for him to make friends with the fans anywhere. Newark fans like a good concher, one who can get back at them and hand out a few roasts in return. But Lotshaw with his rough tactics is the limit. He may be a good ball player, even if he has never shown any of the symptoms of it in Newark, but he is out of his class. Little Anderson has the fans with him from the go, and his two bagger yesterday in the first brought in two runs after Quailley had given a base on balls and Murray's error had allowed the windy Lotshaw to reach first. It was tough but it all goes with the game.

Monday was ladies' day and the fair ones were out in force to look them over and help root for the home team, but they were doomed to disappointment. The game was called at promptly 3 o'clock and a groan went up from the bleachers as Kreamer stepped out to make the announcements. He has no love for Newark and his punk work at the bases proved it. His calling of Gagli out at first, and his decision declaring Wilson safe at second when he was out by at least three feet, were the limit. He called Frank Locke's three bagger a foul when he saw with his own eyes that it hit the dust and made it fly. There was a man on bases and he crossed the runner while Frank rested on third, and then had to go back, and it was of no use—he went down after his "punch" effort.

That's the kind of luck that Newark has been up against all season, and if they win a game it seems as if they have not to run away with it in order to make sure that it isn't taken away from them. The run was made Monday in this manner: In the second half was presented with a pass which he gladly accepted, and O'Day went down. Quailley to G. G. Huchey hugged the base closer than he would a pretty girl 30 years ago until Sandy's double of Lotshaw's "zizz" forced him to second. It was costly, for it would have been a double, perhaps, and they would have been nothing doing. As it was Snelling Billy Anderson, he with the swell mowers, who could break the head of many a New York horse, did he so desire, step out to the front and with an awful snarl squatted on the nose, on it into the left garden for a sweet little double while the wind and the Windy one gently moved across the rubber. Nothing more doings, thank heavens, as Fox was in position and went down easily, Wratten on a Gagli.

In the ninth Wilson was seen to place a rubber's foot in his pocket, which was handed to him by the colored gent who runs the "vicer" on the players before the game and after supper Mr. Wilson did something he wasn't expecting, and neither was any one else. He hit the ball true in the center of its launch and it took a scot over toward the right field. Abbott chased, and as he settled to grab it and throw it to second he was a sorely disappointed ball player, for Mr. Scherold hit a little knoll and bounded gracefully over the fence, and Wilson was scored a home run. Nothing more doing for the Lime Burners for Anderson, Fox and Farrell went down in one, two, three order.

The local boys connected in the first by Abbott sending out a clean single after Snyder had struck out. Smith struck out, but Doc had suffered the second sack, and crossed the pun on a Huke by O'Day, when he couldn't handle Locke's hot one. Gagli went out Wolfe to Lotshaw and there was nothing more doing. The Molders' other run was made in the third. Quailley put a bean of a double over in the left garden and came near dying at second, as Snyder struck out and was followed by Abbott flying out to O'Day. But Pop Smith was equal to the occasion and sent one over Wolfe's head out into the center garden, and Quailley scored easily. Locke went out, King to the windy one. Wolfe was pulled in the fifth, Ketter relieving O'Day, who assumed Wolfe's position. The three games which were scheduled with Springfield are being played here. Monday's score:

NEWARK'S
New Player-Manager is Making Good
With Players and People—Clean, Aggressive Player.

Already the Molders have lived up since Harry Bells moved in Newark, and they are now playing much better ball than they have all season.

HARRY BELLS.
Newark's New Manager.

The new manager is making good with the fans and with the players. The Advocate today published the first picture of Bells ever printed in a Newark paper, and the fans who have not seen him or have not met him personally can form a good idea of the aggressive player-manager of the Molders. Harry knows baseball and will do all in his power to put a winning team in Newark.

DOWN AND OUT

Springfield O., June 9.—There will be no more Ohio State league games played in this city. Manager Ransick announced Monday night that he was going to seek a new location for his team. The series with Newark, which will be opened Tuesday, has been transferred to that city. From Newark the team is scheduled to play in Marion. Manager Ransick is not settled on his plans, but he believes he will locate at Portsmouth. The patronage at the local games has been a failure.

PORTSMOUTH GETS FRANCHISE

The Springfield baseball team will go to Portsmouth to locate on next Sunday. Manager Ransick being there now. He is expected to join the team here Thursday or in Mansfield Friday.

Hayes Wins.
The Hayes Co. defeated the Rutledge team Sunday morning at the Jefferson street diamond. The game was fast, but not a good one, because of the rank errors of both teams. The only feature was the "punching" of Jones for the Hayes team, striking out men at critical times, and the catching of Shannon. Score:

PITCHERS RELEASED
Two more releases were handed out this morning by Manager Bells, and the men who drew them will leave Newark at once. Pitcher Jim Smith was given the can and Dave Wright, another twirler was also given the pink slip. Smith has worked nicely for the Molders with the exception of the day he allowed the Lancaster bunch to touch him up. Wright, on the other hand, has not done anything particularly worthy of note since he joined the team. Smith will return to his home in Pittsburg, but Wright claims he will join the Marion team.

OUR YOUNG FOLKS' PAGE

Tom, the Giant and the Fairy.

BY HELENA DAVIS.

Tom was a poor orphan boy who lived with his uncle and aunt and cousin. The uncle's name was Andrew, the aunt's name was Jane, and the cousin's name was August. The uncle was a cross, domineering man without affection for any save his wife and son. The aunt was a lazy, selfish, envious woman, hating the little orphan boy who was left to her charge by a dying sister. The cousin was a boy after his mother's own heart, an egotistical, bold-faced lad some two years the senior of his cousin Tom.

These folks lived in the country at the base of a great mountain, and the time of their existence was a very, very long time ago. They lived during the age of

With many misgivings he went to his aunt, who was napping like a great cat on the porch, and roused her by saying: "Come, listen to me, Aunt Jane." His aunt awoke, glared at him in wonder, for she had forbidden Tom's coming on the porch when she was taking her sleep. "How dare you, you miserable, thankless one, to disturb me during my morning nap? Haven't I told you I am not well, and that I must have my rest after meals? Now, what's the matter that you stand there looking as though you had stolen a sheep and been caught in the act? Speak up."

"Why, Aunt Jane, I washed the plates and cups and put them to drain on the tray while I ran to the spring for water. When I returned to the kitchen all the heavy leather strap that was kept merely to be used on his back. Then he drew from his quivering little body his cotton jacket and old cast-off shirt of August's, which had fallen to his lot.

When the hard-hearted, lazy aunt had tired herself out she dropped the strap and returned to finish her nap on the porch in the sun. And poor Tom, worn out by the terrible flogging he had received, and suffering the acute agony of both body and mind, fell upon the floor in a limp mass. As he lay there he heard a heavy tread upon the path outside the kitchen door, and glancing up he beheld a giant approaching. Being in that state of mind where fear cannot enter Tom lay quite still, watching through tears the approaching giant. When he reached the door he stood looking at Tom, pity in his big, dull eyes. "Poor lad," he said, "I've heard about you and I braved the danger of coming here to tell you how you may escape this place and these wicked people. Go into the mountain—away up the southern side, and walk straight towards the clouds till you come to a turn in the path. Then you must stop and put your fingers in your mouth and give three long whistles, after which you must say: 'Hail, Fairy Queen, I am come to you for succor.' And then your fortunes will change."

"But, good giant," said Tom, struggling to his knees, "how am I to get permission to leave this house? My aunt will never consent for me to go away from here." And Tom, in guarded whispers, lest his aunt might be awakened by the sound of voices, related the incident of the disappearance of the dishes and his subsequent punishment, ending his solemnly declaring that he was innocent of the charge that his aunt had made against him and that he had no idea of where the dishes were.

"Ah, I think I smell the mystery," said the giant. "The other day as I lay hid behind a long-fallen tree I overheard your good-for-nothing cousin bragging with a shepherd for a fute that he coveted. The shepherd told him that he was going to be married and wanted more than anything else some dishes and kitchen utensils. I fancy the young son of this house is the guilty person."

At this instant Tom heard a rustle on the front porch and held up a finger of warning to the giant, whispering quickly: "Hide behind the hedge there; my aunt is waking and will be here to give me orders for dinner."

"And after she has returned to her lazy pastime I'll come back and we'll finish our conversation," whispered the giant. Then he betook himself quickly behind a high, thick hedge which grew round the garden. No sooner had he disappeared than Tom's aunt came stalking heavily into the kitchen, kicking Tom, who still sat upon the floor, the weakness from his beating not yet having passed off. "Come, you beggar, and start the dinner," commanded the aunt. "Go into the garden and gather some garlic and beans. Make a nice pot of soup for your uncle and cousin. And don't forget to put my name in the pot. And I want a nice piece of mutton, broiled to a turn before a brisk fire. See that the drippings are not wasted. And put the freshest loaf on the table and keep the state one for yourself. It ought to keep you supplied for a week if you are not gluttonous."

Tom dragged himself to the garden where the giant, seeing him, came also. "You rust and I'll gather the vegetables," said the giant to Tom. "You look ill, and should not have to work as you do." "Sar, look through the hedge," whispered Tom, pointing in the direction of the house. The giant did so and saw August, the adored son of the house, creep stealthily toward the kitchen, keeping an eye turned towards the garden where he no doubt knew Tom would be at this time of day. The giant saw him and came forth again, carrying in his arms a great pot (the soup pot in which Tom was to make the dinner broth), a pewter pitcher and a dough bowl. He made off towards the mountain side with all possible speed, looking cautiously behind him at every few steps. "Ah, ha, didn't I smell right?" asked the giant, who had stretched himself full length on the ground that he might keep under the hedge without being seen by August. "And he it was that got the dishes," said Tom. "I shall go this instant and tell Aunt Jane about Cousin August. She must know that he was not I who broke or threw away the dishes. And now when she misses the pot she'll beat me again. So, I shall run and tell her about having seen August going off with the Biographical Sketch of Elizabeth Browning.

Elizabeth Barrett Browning, poetess, was born at Coxhoe Hall, Durham, England, in the year 1806.

Little but the merest facts of her childhood can be obtained save from her own letters to friends and to Mr. Browning, who became her adored and adoring husband and with whom she spent the happiest years of her life. Her father was a stern—almost despot—man, insisting upon the strictest obedience from all in his household, and even after his several children were grown to manhood and womanhood they felt the restraining hand of the too-dominating father, whose word remained law in all things. If one of the children dared to assert the least independence of action a strained feeling at once existed between the offender and Mr. Barrett, who would not tolerate opposition in one of his own. Owing to this trait of character on the part of the head of the Barrett household, the members of the family must have spent many and many an unhappy and discontented hour, and it has been said by an autobiographer of Elizabeth Browning that her mother, both—so she tells us in her letters—be-gan writing rhymes. When about 13 she had "scratched" some things not at all bad," to quote another biographer of her. Indeed, she was a most precocious child and heard the whistlings of the Muse of Poesy while still in tender years. She was always of frail body, spending much of her time in the sick chamber, but always busy with her brilliant and active mind. Several times her life was despaired of before she had reached her twenty-fifth year, and few of her friends expected to see her reach the age she did. She was in her fifty-eighth year at the time of her death. Most of her married life was spent in Italy, where her devoted husband took her for the benefit of her health.

Mary Clarke Graham, "soon faded gently out of life."

One son was born to the Brownings, and he is now a famous painter in Italy, making the country of his parents' adoption and his own birth his home.

Robert Browning died in 1880, having survived his wife 28 years.

giant, dwarf, and fairies, and there were many strange happenings then. Every morning Tom's Uncle Andrew went into the fields to work; his Aunt Jane went out on the great vine-covered porch to sit in idleness, while Tom was put to perform the household duties. And August passed the hours between breakfast and dinner lying on his back on the mountain-side singing songs or talking to himself, or perchance visiting some shepherd on the mountain-side, but always idling.

The morning on which this story opens was a glorious May day, the sun shining with a genial smile on garden and field. Tom was busy in the kitchen washing the breakfast dishes. He had placed the plates and cups on a tray to drip while he ran to the spring near by for some water. On his return he found to his amazement that every dish had disappeared from the tray. At first he supposed his aunt had come in and wiped them dry and put them in the cupboard. But when he went to the cupboard to see if such were the case he was dumfounded to see no plates nor cups there.

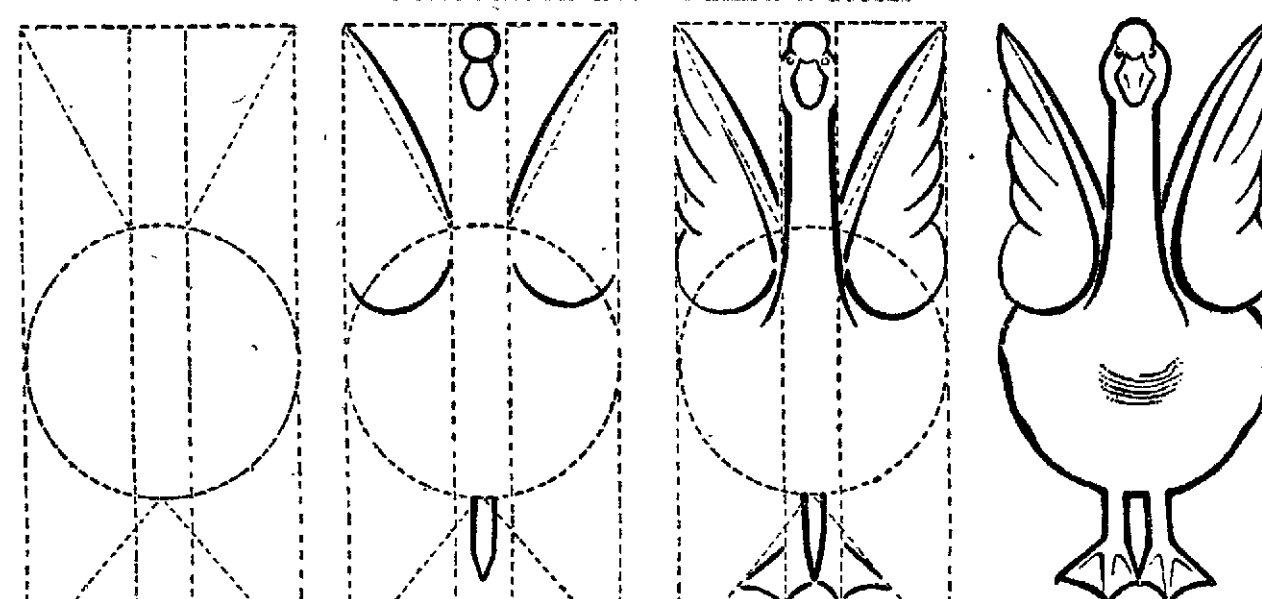

plates and cups were missing; now can I find them anywhere." The aunt was on her feet in a moment, and striding with a very healthy stride into the kitchen. "If you've broken a single dish, young beggar, I'll give you 30 lashes with the strap for each dish," she said. "Ah, the dishes could take unto themselves legs and walk away, could they? Well, we'll see about that." And the irate woman began searching everywhere for the missing plates and cups, but in vain. During her search Tom stood trembling in every limb, for he knew what punishment at his aunt's hands meant. Her arm seemed to hold the strength of a giant when she wielded the lash.

"Ah, ha, just as I thought," cried the aunt, turning on Tom. "You've broken the dishes that you may not have them to wash. Go and fetch the strap from the cellarway and remove your jacket and shirt. You'll not be in a humor to break any more dishes for sometime after I'm through with you."

Tom could do nothing but obey, and brought to the angry and cruel woman

HER GRADUATION ESSAY.

She stood the highest in her class and now in cap and gown, she steps before the audience with knowledge loaded down; in calm and haughty fashion she courtesies with grace, and demonstrates her fitness to fill the highest place. To her the English branches were nothing more than play, of Homer, eighteen pages were nothing in a day; she was up on ornithology, the study of the birds, had gone in for philology—etymology of words, Mythology, astrology, biology and Latin, were better understood by her than either silks or satin. But more than all these studies deep, which won this wreath of fame, 'twas her success with Spartan Stain made people ask her name. After all, young ladies, knowledge is a wonderfully handy thing; but that which tends more to make happy homes is a thorough knowledge of the simple and useful accomplishments which enable a woman to keep her home bright and beautiful. Spartan Stain is one of the greatest helps in the world for this. Made by the Marietta Paint and Color Co., Marietta, O. Sold by Newark Paint Co., 31 West Church street.

Murderer Suicides Because He Was Deeply in Love and Could Not Live Without Her.

Willoughby, O., June 9.—Coroner Amador of Lake county, today began the inquest on the bodies of Charles P. Corlett of Cleveland, and wife, Alice, Corlett, who is president of the Corlett Engineering company, last night killed his wife after the woman had taken poison and had been saved by a doctor. Evidence at the inquest showed that Corlett had shot his wife because she had received attentions from another man and that he then suicided because he was so deeply in love with her that he didn't care to live without her.

GRAFF-REILLY.

At the church of the Blessed Sacrament this morning at 8 o'clock, a very pretty wedding was solemnized by Rev. Father Watterson, when he united in the holy bonds of matrimony, Miss Katherine Reilly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Reilly, and Mr. Charles Graff.

The services were very impressive and the couple were attended by Miss Mary McHeipley and Mr. Eugene McCarty.

After the ceremony an elaborate wedding breakfast was served the bride party and immediate family at the home of the bride on Buena Vista street.

After a trip through the East, Mr. and Mrs. Graff will be at home to their friends after July 1, at their home in Lenox street.

FIRE WITH PETROLEUM

INCENDIARIES MAKE ATTEMPT TO DESTROY FAMOUS OLD CHURCH.

Was Crowded at Time With Women and Children, All of Whom Left Building Safely.

Berlin, June 8.—An attempt was made yesterday to burn down the old St. Francis Xavier Church, which belongs to the Dominicans, which was crowded with people assembled to hear a sermon by the famous Dominican monk, Bonaventura. About 1,000 persons were present, including more than 1,000 women and children. The church was in silent prayer, some one intimated Father Bonaventura that the church was afire.

Without alarming the congregation he coolly stepped over to the priest who was celebrating mass and requested him to close the service. The priest left the altar and spoke to his assistants, who walked down the aisle and whispered to the pew holders that an insignificant blaze had broken out and that they had better leave the building as soon as possible. At the time the entire roof of the church was a mass of flames, and the fire brigade was hurried to the burning building.

Those in the church, not knowing the extent of the fire, fortunately did not realize their peril, and on the clergy's request made their exit rapidly and in an orderly manner. When they reached the street they found the firemen drawn up with ladders against the walls. The fire fighters discovered that nearly a dozen fire-brands soaked with petroleum had been distributed about various parts of the roof.

The flames were extinguished with difficulty after great damage had been done. The police suspect a gang of incendiaries, who, it is said, set fire to the old Garrison church which was destroyed on April 11 last.

FAVORITE SONS

CHARLES EVANS HUGHES, THE PROPHET OF A NEW ERA IN POLITICAL WORLD.

Father Was a Baptist Minister and Governor is Said to be a Preacher Among Politicians.

Albany, N. Y., June 9.—Charles Evans Hughes is probably less of a politician than any other man in politics. Politicians say he is an accident, the unnatural result of extraordinary circumstances. His admirers say he is the prophet of a new era in the political world. Every one who has been associated with him closely is certain of one fact—he is a man of outstanding individuality.

As governor of New York he has given the state an administration that is absolutely unique. It has not been wholly successful in the matter of accomplishment. He has worked alone, except for the aid of those who rallied to his assistance of their own accord. He never asks the aid of any man.

Old-timers at Albany, who admire the governor for his stand on all moral questions, and who believe in most of his doctrines of right living, say:

"He is a great governor. He has given the state an administration on a high plane. But Odell and Roosevelt did more for the people after all. They made the politicians go what they wanted them to do. They laid down the law to the legislature and the legislature usually obeyed. It is true that the preachers of the state did not agree with everything they did—but they got results."

Hughes considers the means fully as important as the end. His father was a Baptist preacher in Gales Ferry, N. Y., and there is something of the Baptist layman in the governor today. A leader scattered about the legislature during the fight on the anti-trust bill, said of him:

"He is a preacher among politicians; a politician among preachers." Much fun has been made of his comments on comic papers and political speeches. It is no more of the thing about Hughes that worries the politicians most of all is his candor. He consults his conscience on every issue and does what all conscience and men, no matter what happens, he can say to himself: "I have done the right thing. If others fail I cannot be blamed for their failure. I have done my full duty."

Hughes studied hard as a boy in school and his never stopped. He is now 46 years old, and in his mind and body away the results of almost that many years' study, for he began to read almost as soon as he began to talk.

But there is another side to the man who is said to be usually is not seen in the public. He has all the human emotions in a strong degree, but he is able to control them and keep them in the background. No man is better company at a dinner, and no man enters more enthusiastically into the spirit of a joke or an evening of pleasure. When the evening has been set aside for that purpose.

This is the last picture taken in America of the great Primate of All Ireland before his departure for home after a month's visit to the United States.

At dinners such as the "Amen Corner" annual affair in New York, or the dinner of the Legislative Correspondents' Association of Albany, both of which are patronized after the old-fashioned dinners in Washington, he enjoys all the fun that is poked at him and laughs loudest of all. He seems to revel in recreation of this sort, and the reason probably lies in the fact that he usually keeps his mind hard at serious work.

The very fact that he is unpopular with the politicians who have ruled New York so long has given Hughes much support—a support of a kind that surprised everybody. It came from men who usually are not heard from in public matters.

The late John Vanderpool, president of the United Press, in an article on Hughes, said:

"Some think Hughes at heart a Wall street lawyer—some say that he is a moral prig. The bulk of his really earnest, popular support comes from the up-state hayseed districts. Were he ever made president, he probably would pursue the course he has as governor, that is, he would never take up a thing until he understood it thoroughly, and then pushed it through with calm, insistent patience, falling back always on the same 'It is right' argument when anybody wanted to change his mind."

Hughes first sprang in public notice as counsel for the legislative committee in the gas investigation in New York City in 1905. Then quickly followed the life insurance investigation in which he won national fame and which brought him the nomination for governor.

CASE AFTER CASE.

Plenty More Like This in Newark.

Scores of Newark people can tell you about Doan's Kidney Pills. Many a happy citizen makes a public statement of his experience. Here is a case of it. What better proof of merit can be had than such endorsement?

Amos Frey, Toloso seven miles east of Newark, O., says: "I have been entirely free from kidney trouble since Doan's Kidney Pills cured me over eleven years ago. Prior to that time I suffered severely from pains through the small of my back and joints which were always aggravated by the least exertion. If I sat in one position for any length of time, my back became so sore that I suffered untold misery. I used several remedies, but the relief obtained was slight, and I continued to grow worse until I was in a serious condition. I finally read of Doan's Kidney Pills and as they were highly recommended for complaints similar to mine, I procured a box at Grayson's drug store. They acted just as represented, going directly to the seat of my trouble and ridding me of all pain. I have always highly endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills and deem it a pleasure to do so whenever an opportunity presents itself."

RETURN FROM PLEASANT VISIT

Messrs. Fred Vogelmeier and Harry Vogelmeier, son of Mr. William C. Vogelmeier, who have been spending their vacation in New York for the past two weeks, returned home Saturday. While in New York they were the guests of Mr. William F. Kinney, a prominent contractor of that place, and what they didn't see in the metropolis would not take long to tell. Mr. Kinney has one of the greatest attractions at Coney Island, "Jonah and the Whale," and when we say that the boys visited Coney Island five different times, that is enough. They also spent three days in Philadelphia, the guests of Mr. Ernest Weil, who recently visited in Newark with the Vogelmeier family. Harry says he didn't know there was so much world on 'side of Newark.

ATHLETES

That Will Represent America in the Olympic Games Were Picked Last Night.

New York, June 8.—To represent the United States in the Olympic games which will be held in London next month, 76 men, the pick of the country's athletes were Monday night selected as the American team by the American Olympic team committee, at a meeting in the Astor house.

While the team selected last night will be the main reliance of America in the various events to be contested the committee has formulated a supplemental list of athletes, including the more promising of the younger element, which may be drawn upon to complete the entry list of the events. Last night's list, however, is likely to be the guide of the committee in making up the entries for the various events.

WILL YOUR ESTATE BE A BUNCH OF RENT RECEIPTS?

Is it not business to invest your earnings and keep them invested? Experience has proven that fortunes invested in real estate have remained intact through more generations than when invested in any other form of property.

For the head of the family the title to his home means the saving of rents and the possession of an asset constantly increasing in value. Values in real estate have been created by the growth of population. These are factors which tend to increase the demand for, and decrease the supply of real estate.

We are now building modern houses and will offer lots for sale with or without houses, in my new addition, corner of Church and Eighth streets. Streets will be improved by paving, cement walks, gas and water to property lines, no special taxes, all improvements are paid. When all improvements are made these houses and lots will soon sell and you will have lost another opportunity to better your condition.

Can you afford to let this opportunity pass?

OLD GLORY

Should Gallantly Wave From Schools and All Public Buildings of the City.

Editor Advocate.—It has been suggested by many lovers of Old Glory that some steps be taken for the better enforcement of the law with regard to the display of our glorious banner on all holidays. I think the action taken by the Cincinnati council should be followed by our honorable city council. The Enquirer says: The American flag will hereafter be unfurled on the Fourth of July and other holidays of a national character on all public buildings, including the city hall, the schools, police stations, fire houses, hospital, infirmary, house of refuge and workhouse. To bring this about a motion was offered in city council yesterday by Member Mullen to request the school board and boards of public service and safety to have the flag displayed on all buildings under the control. Mr. Mullen, speaking in favor of the motion, urged citizens to display the national emblem on these days from their homes and places of business.

In his written motion Mr. Mullen said: "It is desirable and proper that we should, as often as possible, hold this emblem of our greatness up to the eyes and understanding of those who prosper beneath it, particularly the young and growing people."

Gentlemen of the council, take this matter up at your next meeting and meet the approval of all lovers of the flag. ONE OF THE FLAG BOYS.

MEETING OF CONGRESS YOUNG PEOPLES UNION

Monday evening the progress of the United society met in regular session at the First Congregational church with representatives from six societies. The most interesting part of the session was the discussion relative to evangelistic meetings to be held this summer, but owing to the fact that a few churches were not represented, it was decided to adjourn to meet next Monday evening at the First Congregational church and in the meantime a committee was appointed to see about procuring a tent and the probable cost. Also a number were assigned to go to the churches not represented and strongly present the matter to the young people.

This is certainly a great opportunity for ministers, church members and the young peoples' societies to work together in a series of great meetings, and it is to be hoped that all Christian people will fall in line to carry on a work of this kind.
